

MCC 360 – Participant Benefits

The following list represents several benefits that you can experience as a physician participant who has completed the MCC 360 program.

- The program encourages an environment that is favorable for better teamwork, along with fostering an openness for improved communication with your patients, colleagues, and co-workers
- The MCC 360 feedback report helps you highlight areas of development, and encourages you to create an action plan with specific goals for self-improvement
- You receive invaluable feedback from your patients, colleagues and co-workers, alongside guidance on how to put the feedback into practice
- The program creates a positive attitude of change in the way you go about your daily work
- The program promotes increased awareness of the importance of communication, professionalism and collaboration in your practice.
- Depending on the quality assurance and improvement (QA/QI) program, participation in MCC 360 can count towards your Continuing Professional Development (CPD) requirements
- The program can help you understand how key performance dimensions are linked within your QA/QI program's overall strategy and values